The Cow Would Not Halt.

On Wednesday night about 10:30 some one, whom we suppose had forgotten about the soldiers being in town, fired off a pistol while walking up Court street in front of the bank.
The soldiers who were guarding the jail thought that this was the signal for an attack on them, so they fired on the party who took refuge behind the coal-box, in front of the bank. A short while after this a cow passed along the street in front of the jail and it being so dark they thought it was an attacking party coming after them, so they called to the moving object to halt, but it moved on, whereupon the soldiers fired on the object, which turned out to be a cow. She was the property of Mrs. Esther Haddix. The damages were promptly settled on Thursday morning.

A one pounder Hotchkiss gun, and 150 rounds of ammunition was received here by the militia Wednesday evening.
